

Rhino and Elephant

The rhino passes the elephant at a distance of 15 feet.

in Amboseli National Reserve

The two rhinos rub horns in greeting.

The rhino meets a friend.

Although passing within a few feet of each other these rhino and elephant in the Amboseli National Reserve ignore each other completely.

15 (1), March 1961

The rhinos nonchalantly depart and the elephants remain unmoved.

The lesions behind the shoulder of the rhino, referred to in this issue, are clearly evident on both rhino.

(Photos: A. Duveen)