

Years 12, Nays 97. The Locofocos who voted for laying the bill on the table, we have placed in Italics. There were 28 of them. Seven members (all Whigs) from Slave States voted to lay on the table. Sixteen members were absent, as follows:

Chase of Tenn., Cummins of Ohio, Duncan of Ky., Haskell of Tenn., Hunt of N. Y., Johnson of N. H., Leffler of Iowa, Levin of Pa., Morse of La., Murphy of N. Y., Phelps of Mo., Richey of Ohio, Roman of Md., Root of Ohio, Wilson of N. H., Gaines of Ky.—16.

Mr Haskell, of Tenn., afterwards asked permission to vote to lay the bill on the table.

Every Whig member from free States voted to lay the bill on the table.

Every member from New York voted to lay the bill on the table except Mr Birball, who is son-in-law to Senator Dickinson.

From the Johnstown Republican Extra, July 24.

APPALLING CASUALTY AT RAYMOND & WARING'S MENAGERIE—The peaceful village of Galway was on Sunday (23d inst.) thrown into great excitement by a report that the huge Rhinoceros belonging to Raymond & Waring's Menagerie had broken loose from his cage, and was committing terrible havoc among the cattle in that vicinity.

It seems that some time during Saturday night the elephant Columbus, who is not one of the most amiable disposition, amused himself by tearing off the strong iron bars from the cage in which the rhinoceros was secured. Finding himself menaced the rhinoceros came from his cage and showed fight. He was no sooner on the ground than he received two or three heavy blows from the trunk of the elephant upon his back which beat him to the earth, where he lay for some time as if dead.

The elephant then endeavored to finish him by trampling upon him, which the rhinoceros evaded by jumping under the body of his powerful antagonist, in which position he gave the elephant several upward thrusts with the prodigious horn that projects from the front of his head, which put his elephantship hors du combat. The keepers finding it impossible to secure the infuriated beast alone, called upon the neighbors for assistance, which was promptly given, and every effort made to prevent him from doing further mischief.

In the meanwhile the Rhinoceros had got into the open fields, where he confined his operations to the frightening of horses and cows that were in the pasture, and then took to a neighboring swamp where he luxuriated in his favorite recreation of bathing with the same unconcern as if he had been wallowing among his own native marshes in Japan.

Finding it impossible to capture him by means of traps and meshes, the proprietors at length came to the conclusion of despatching him; and for this purpose procured a number of muskets. They might as well have fired against the side of a stone wall, as his hide resisted the balls as effectually as if he had been encased in iron.—Up to a late hour last night they had not succeeded in taking him, although more than five hundred persons were engaged in the pursuit, and a large offered for his capture alive. The elephant is so badly wounded that he is not expected to recover.

☞ The Cleveland Plaindealer, a Democratic journal, offers "one hundred dollars for the biggest lie about Gen. Cass." We shall not enter the lists as a competitor for the premium; but he who does so will only need to affirm that Cass is a consistent politician, elevated above all worldly considerations, and a true friend of freedom,