

Morning Herald, 26 July 1790

We hear Mr. Clark of Exeter Change is singular in his possessions, having perhaps what no Englishman before has had, the supporters of the King's arms alive, a Lion and Male Unicorn. The Rhinoceros is really the unicorn ... is two years old, upwards of four feet high, about 15 hundredweight: a greater living curiosity has never appeared in this century.