The woman, Miss Alice Jane Bonner (65), is believed to have died from natural causes.

Neither Valentine nor Miss Bonner had been seen since Monday, and the police, when their attention was drawn to the house...

DEVOTED TO HER

Valentine was employed by Hammersmith Borough Council.

A neighbour said: "Miss Bonner had been blind for the last six years.

"They were like a devoted brother and sister."

ALLEGED ROBBERS FOR TRIAL

MANAGER DESCRIBES RAID ON BANK

Vivid evidence of a bank raid was given at Manchester when three men were committed for trial...

They were Arthur Edward Wood, 32, 'bus driver; Leo Kleva, 23...

The charge against them was of robbing Martins Bank, Cheetham Hill Road, Manchester...

The total amount alleged to have been involved was £1,175.

Describing the raid on the District Bank, the manager, Mr. Herbert H. Hammond, stated that just as he was going to lock up...

BOUND THEIR HANDS

"The two men on the counter," Mr. Hammond declared, "were Kleva and Kingham."

Mr. Hammond added that he was backed into the corner with a gun in his ribs...

When they had taken the money from the safe, one of the men was alleged to have said:

"We have treated you well. No monkey tricks. Don't give too good a description of us to the police."

Mr. Hammond went on to say that two of the men got back over the counter and left the bank leaving one on guard at the door.

"I jumped on the counter," he added, "and saw the car going away. I took the number of the car and phoned the police."

GIRL'S EVIDENCE

A girl, whose name was given as Margaret Holmes, but whose address was not disclosed...

'PHONE CALL REVEALS DOUBLE TRAGEDY

MAN AND WIFE DIE BY FIRESIDE

IN ARMCHAIRS WITH HANDS LINKED

[ILLUSTRATED ON PAGE 10.]

A letter sent to their son in Rochester, Kent, asking him to telephone the house, and, if he received no reply...

After the son received a letter by the first post he communicated with the police at Rochester...

On a table near them were two empty glasses which, it is understood, had contained enough cyanide of potassium to kill a dozen people.

Mr. Stoneham, senr., was formerly a stockbroker, but it is understood that he had worried over money matters for some time and friends had been helping him.

BRADFORD DOUBLE TRAGEDY

HUSBAND'S GRIM CRIME

TRAGIC LETTER READ AT INQUEST

Addressed to the Chief Constable, a letter threw light on a double tragedy which caused a sensation in Bradford.

It was read at the inquest on the victims, Alexander Hesling, 26, sheet metal worker, of Cabinet Street, Bradford, and Doris Mary Hesling, 21, his wife.

The woman was found strangled in bed, and the man gassed in a living-room at their home.

The couple's four-month-old son was lying unharmed in another bed in the same room as his mother.

One began "My beloved wife, and ended, 'From your loving husband.'"

"NOT A SUCCESS"

The coroner then read Hesling's letter to the police chief.

I was quite sane when I did my wife in. My married life has not been a success through my wife.

Please give my baby to my mother for her to care for. Do not give it to Doris's mother—Alice.

On one occasion they quarrelled about three o'clock in the morning.

The man's mother, Mrs. Amelia Hesling, revealed that her son had been studying books on psychology.

GORED TO DEATH BY BULL

HERDSMAN'S GRIM FATE IN SHED

FARMER'S DESPERATE BID TO SAVE HIM

[ILLUSTRATED ON PAGE 3.]

William Holmes, a 50-year-old herdsman, was gored to death by a bull at Langwarren, Letterston, Pembrokeshire.

When Holmes entered the shed to feed the bull it attacked him. A farm boy ran for assistance, and Captain A. G. Mathias, the man's employer, came to his help and tried to beat off the bull.

Other help was obtained and the man was dragged out of the shed, but was found to be dead.
