

Tuesday 13 June 1848

Public domain

Orleans family upon the
 the Re-
 Bill was a revolu-
 has effected in the
 the relations towards s interests and classes, are the force of arms could effect.
 colonies by act of parliament; the efforts of the world ed; prostrated a loyal and tered misery and suffering ring and labouring popula-ceeding, by act of parlia- ry institution in the land,
 f. Can the most sanguine the immunity of any single the hand of innovation? It We are as surely plunged volution as France herself. nentable of all, we can disk in our career towards de-we are progressing further k up of the empire. The l our policy appears to be despite of all warnings and tion—ourselves secure within, and regardless of revolutionary broils without. Yesterday was a fine summer day. No rain fell.

THE LATE MR. THOMAS ATKINS. — We have with regret to record the decease of the above respected gentleman, who has for many years past been known to the public as the proprietor of the Zoological Gardens. The melancholy event took place on Tuesday last, at the advanced age of 84 years, during the last eighteen months of which he had been labouring under severe illness, which he bore with exemplary patience. From early life Mr. Atkins was attached to the pursuits of natural history, of which he has left behind him the fruits in a large and interesting collection; and has perhaps contributed more than any other individual to the rational amusement and information upon such subjects of his fellow-townsmen. In his character, in all the relations of life, he was most exemplary, a devout christian, a kind husband, father and friend, and most liberal to all connected with the large establishment of which he was the head.
 During the last four years, the management of the gardens has been principally conducted by his enterprising sons, Messrs. Edwin and John Atkins, in whose hands they will doubtless be continued to be kept up with the same liberality as in past years.

THE FERRIES ON THE MERSEY. — On Sunday, the weather being delightful, and it being Whit Sunday, the several ferry-boats carried many more than their accustomed number of passengers, especially those belonging vacant land i plan, with re

 seconded by 1
 Council adjou

FAILURE
 PURCH

A special m
 Tuesday, at 1
 for the purpo
 that gentlem
 for the purch
 that the first
 by letter from
 he informed t
 any overtures
 The next wa
 smith and of negotiate. T which the full
 but it was r
 the meeting o
 offer which th £341,960 for £155,000, ma

Subscribe

Other 301

Where am I?