

ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS.

Yesterday was quite a gala day at this interesting place; the number of visitors amounted to upwards of twelve hundred—more than upon any former occasion—The Rhinoceros will be removed from the Gardens for Liverpool, on Monday morning. This day and to-morrow will, therefore, be the last opportunity afforded for seeing him. The Great Seal is still alive, and promises to continue so longer than it was anticipated.